

Bradley To Fight Extradition

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Edgar Eugene Bradley, free on his own recognizance, sought an extradition hearing today to day to avoid a Louisiana trial in connection with the Kennedy assassination.

The final decision on whether the North Hollywood public relations man will be extradited apparently will lie with Gov. Ronald Reagan of California.

As his lawyer pledged to fight extradition "every inch of the way," Bradley surrendered yesterday on a fugitive complaint based on a warrant accusing him of conspiring to assassinate President John F. Kennedy.

The surrender came six days after Dist. Attorney James Garrison of New Orleans ordered the warrant sent to Los Angeles.

"Believe me, I don't have a thing to hide," said Bradley as he arrived with 20 friends in the office of sheriff Peter J. Pitchess.

Bradley was arraigned promptly in Municipal Court and released on his own recognizance. The hearing on the New Orleans fugitive complaint was continued to Jan. 29.

Bradley is the second person charged in Garrison in the 1963 assassination in Dallas, Tex. New Orleans businessman Clay L. Shaw is awaiting trial under an indictment of conspiracy to commit murder.
